Access for engineering trains/On-Track Machines to/from Headbolt Lane possession The movement of engineering trains and On-Track machines to and from the Headbolt Lane possession worksite can only be made when the normal operation of train service has ended and the possession has been extended and the PICOP is in possession of the token and the key for the derailer. When the possession is shortened to facilitate the running of the freight service to Dale lane ground frame and the turnback of the Northern ECS movements the Signaller must ensure that the T3 protection and derailer are reinstated as above and the signaller is in possession of the derailer key and token before authorising any movements.
